

TEMPLE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

GROUP - 9

Introduction

Temple Management System offers a complete automation in billing and accounts, inventory, staff management and administration sections. It helps temple administrators to assure effective devotee service and a better way to connect to the community.

Temple Management solution supports easy operation and efficient reporting. It can be incorporated with internet support to allow devotees to make online offerings, pooja bookings, and many more useful features. The omkar temple is the first hindu temple in north america named after the mantra “Aum”.

The omkar temple currently has a website that is simple, convenient and with an easy to navigate interface. The objective of the project is to create a new fully functional website that is user friendly and robust to enable users to conduct temple related activities.

Objective

The objective of the project is to create a new fully functional website that is user friendly and robust to enable users to conduct temple related activities. The deliverables of the project would be a completely redesigned website with modern features yet easy to maintain by the user. Most needed feature/services to be considered are calendar, updates, events, live to social media, It consists of a navigation structure logical model with the following main pages:

1. Home Page

1.1 About Omkar Temple

1.1.1 Mission - Mission, vision and purpose of omkar temple

1.1.2 History - Beginning of omkar temple

1.1.3 Current and Former Members - Priests and members of the temple

1.2 Events and Services

1.2.1 Calendar of Events - Latest news and events being conducted

1.2.2 Prior Events and Photo Galleries - Gallery of photos from previous events

1.2.3 Services - Various services provided by the temple

1.3 LiveStream - Livestream calendar

1.4 Donations

1.4.1 Payment Gateway - online form and electronic payment options for donation

1.5 Education - Information about various teachings and principles. The information about the mythology.

1.6 Contacts - Contact information and support (Address and Email)

1.7 Login- The website has three types of actors that login such as temple customer, priest and admin(IT).

SDLC Models and Project constraints

The Agile model is a good approach for the project development process. Agile development looks more like this:

- Project planning
- Product roadmap creation
- Release planning

- Sprint planning
- Daily meetings
- Sprint Review

- A limitation of the system is the hardware and software technology utilized to create it. When choosing technology, we must take compatibility, scalability, and security requirements into account.
- We comprehend the end users' requirements and the objectives they hope to accomplish with the system. The system must be user-friendly and suitable for their demands.
- We must comply with data privacy and security regulations when building the system.
- To develop and construct the system, we possess the requisite knowledge and abilities.
- We ensure that the system integrates seamlessly with existing systems used by the temple.

Requirement Glossary

- Pooja: A ritualistic act of worship or an offering made to a god in Hinduism.
- Prasadam: The food or treat that is offered to the deity during the pooja and then given as a blessing to the worshippers.
- Aarti: A Hindu ritual in which a flame is waved in front of the deity while singing prayers.
- Darshan: The act of seeing and worshiping the deity in the temple.
- Utsav: A festival or celebration held in a deity's honor.
- Seva: The act of serving the deity, which may involve chores like maintaining the temple, preparing meals, or participating in pooja.
- Archana: The reciting of the god's names and qualities during puja.
- Prasad distribution: The act of distributing prasad among the devotees.
- Kirtan: A devotional song or chant that is sung during the pooja.
- Guru Dakshina: A monetary or spiritual offering given to the guru or spiritual teacher in gratitude for their teachings and guidance.

UseCase Diagram

Actors/users

1. User
2. Priest
3. Admin(IT)

Client Requirements

- User (temple customer): Able to see website information (home to contact us page).

- User (temple customer): able to schedule a appointment for the given event (pooja to ceremonies)
- Priest: able to receive those appointment details(email/phone), make modification (time, date) and confirm those schedules.
- Priest: able to broadcast live events in the temple using web system
- Admin (IT): upload/create/modify contents in the web system
- Admin (IT): upload/create/modify calendar events in the system
- Admin (IT): add or remove more roles
- Admin (IT): add or remove any users/roles in the system.

Functional Requirements

- Donation Management - The system should be able to manage donations from various sources such as cash, credit/debit and online payment gateways.
- Event Management - The system should be able to manage & schedule events such as festivals & cultural programs. It should be able to track the number of attendees, manage resources and volunteers etc.
- User Interface - A well designed user interface through which the actors interact with the system to access information and various features.
- Membership Management - The system should be able to maintain a database that can efficiently store user information, status and their payment history.
- Communication Management - The system should be able to manage communication with members, volunteers, priests through email, SMS or any other social media platform to make it universally accessible as possible.

There's also a note about external links.

Journalists, Educators and Curious Minds:

Our doors are always open to journalists, educators and curious minds who would like to learn more about Hinduism, our culture and our sacred ceremonies. We also welcome field trips of all ages for teachers and their students. Please come visit the Temple to watch Hindu Poojas (ceremonial prayers) and learn about our religion. Dress code is casual, however we ask that visitors dress appropriately by not wearing clothes that are overtly revealing. Specifically; knee level or below and covering of the shoulders and chest.

Our timings and ceremonies are constantly changing so we ask that larger groups and those travelling greater distances contact us ahead of time to confirm we will be open upon arrival.

Lessons About Hinduism:

Educational content to come soon to this page. Check back often! As you explore our website you might see links on certain Hindu words. Click on them to learn more about Hinduism. These links take you off our site however, so please be careful. External links are marked with their destinations in parenthesis () .

Non - Functional Requirements

- Performance - The system should handle large volumes of data and transactions efficiently.
- Scalability & Reliability - The system should be able to handle an increasing number of users without affecting performance and must be reliable. It should maintain backup and recovery features to ensure data is not lost in case of system failure.
- Security - Secure authentication and authorization. System that ensures that only authorized users can access the data & ensure confidentiality and integrity of data.
- Accessibility - The system must be accessible to all users and compatible with different devices and platforms.
- Maintainability - Easy to maintain with minimal downtime. The system should be able to accommodate future upgrades and enhancements.

Technical Requirements

- Prototype- Figma
- Front end- Javascript or Html
- Backend- MySql
- Hosting of code- Bitbucket
- Documentation- Google docs
- Presentation- Google slides

Project Risks

- Technical risks: The project may face technical risks such as system compatibility issues, security vulnerabilities, or software bugs that can impact the system's performance.
- Information Theft: Information about the users should be maintained well without any loss of information.
- Data quality risks: The temple management system relies heavily on accurate and up-to-date data. Poor data quality can lead to incorrect decisions, impact the system's performance, and result in negative outcomes.
- Maintenance risks: Maintenance risks arise when the software requires frequent updates or maintenance, and the project team is not prepared to handle these changes.
